The Medal of Culture
Levels	Available in Grades I, II, and III
Size	11 centimeters in total length, 6 centimeters at the widest point
Description	1. Inspired by the full blossom of native moth orchids, the medal design is inspired by a traditional Taiwanese craft art called silk-wrapped flowers to represent the pure and persistent spirit of Taiwan. It also emphasizes how culture and the arts are inherited through generations. The medal is inlaid with natural pearls to convey the accumulation of outstanding cultural achievements and contributions over time. 2. The medal comprises three layers. The top layer is made of pistils and pearl inlays, while three orchid petals inlaid with pearls make up the central section that is supported by a circular base. The medal's grade and serial numbers are inscribed on the back. Finally, the medal is attached by buckle to a red ribbon with gold trimmings.
